

ABSTRACT

The invention provides a remediation method of soil, water and/or gases by prompt denhalogenation of halogenated hydrocarbons by allowing the halogenated hydrocarbons contained at least in one of the soil, water and/or gases to contact an iron powder containing about 0.1% to about 2% by mass of sulfur preferably on the surface, and an iron powder for use in the remediation method.